

Fatima Jalloh, they/them

Class of 2025; journalism

Why Northwestern?

I matched with Northwestern (my first choice school!) through Questbridge. I chose it because it catered to all of my interests (journalism, creative writing, queer/gender/race studies, and a million other things) in academia, as well as my interests socially. Chicago is also one of the big cities that I always had dreamt of 'escaping' to, and I am so happy to be able to explore both the city and all of my interests.

Favorite Spot on Campus:

The gardens along Deering!

Come to me for:

- Journalism
- Creative Writing
- Essay Writing & Editing
- Humanities

Why did you become a counselor?

I decided to become a Bridge counselor (again!) because of my amazing experience with the Bridge program two years in a row. As a Bridge student myself, I felt like I was able to build a community on campus even though we had all met and gotten to know each other on Zoom. Being a UTF for last summer's Bridge definitely doubled my love for the program, as it allowed me to meet and mentor 55 amazing students with their own unique, distinct backgrounds.
